

Experiment

Noirin Graham

September 18, 2024

Problem

The wheels of the Robot should movable 360° around the x axes. For that a continuous type needs to be chosen. We need to find out which axes can move and which can't. Also, the connection to the body is different.

Solution

This is where you will provide the solution to the problem.